

Young Explorers

Exploring the lovely nature of the areas around us can open our eyes to the beauty of the outdoors and introduce us to a new appreciation for the things we hear and see when we go outside! Learn how to draw what you see, become a bird watcher and dye a shirt in this schedule.

Draw and Find

We all have a passionate artist within us, so head outside or even look up some beautiful wonders of nature and try to draw what you see! Doesn't have to be perfect, try to capture the small details and you'll be surprised by how skilled you are !

Archeological Dig; Finding Worms!

Did you know that worms have been crawling on this earth for more than 500 million years? Check out these fascinating facts about these creepy crawly creatures in this infographic created by Camp Happy Creator Grace Callwood.

Look and Listen

Birds are not only beautiful and intriguing to look at, but they make great chirping noises and mating calls to make them identifiable when they are often hard to find. Use a little imagination and creativity to make your own bird-watching binoculars as Camp Happy Counselor Theo Rose did on this great D.I.Y. Guide made just for you!

Camp Out!

Whether you're at home, in a hospital room, a dorm, a shelter or even on the just about anywhere, a good camp out can be a great experience! Spend the night somewhere other than your room/bed, whether that's on the couch or outside or in the basement. Only bring the essentials; a snack, some water, a game or activity book and a flashlight!

Journal Entry

Write all about your camping experience and what was the biggest difference from where you usually sleep!
